UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

vs.

BRUCE BARNHILL,

Defendant.

THOMAS M. GOULD
CLERK, U.S. DISTRICT COURT
W/D OF TENN. MEMPHIS

No. 04-20503-Myp

ORDER OF DETENTION AND REVOKING BOND

On June 30, 2005, defendant Barnhill appeared in court for an initial appearance on a charge of violation of the terms and conditions of his pretrial release. The government requested his bond be revoked. The defendant was advised of his right to have a bond revocation/detention hearing.

In accordance with 18 U.S.C. § 3148 of the Bail Reform Act, a bond revocation/detention hearing was held on July 5, 2005. After consultation with counsel, the defendant requested that he be allowed to participate in a residential drug treatment program at New Directions; however, residential space will not be available for another ten days. The defendant requested that he be allowed to remain on his present bond until admitted to New Directions.

Based on statement of counsel at the hearing, the court concludes that the defendant is in need of a residential drug treatment program. However, based on the defendant's previous charges of violating the terms of his pretrial release and the factors set forth in section 3142(g), the court finds that the defendant is unlikely to abide by any condition or combination of conditions of release pending admission to a residential program.

Accordingly, the defendant's bond is revoked, and defendant is ordered detained and held without bond. It is recommended that the defendant be admitted to a residential drug treatment program at New Directions. Upon space becoming available at New Directions, it is ordered that the person in charge of the detention facility deliver the defendant to the United States Marshal for transportation and admission to New Directions. Upon defendant's successful completion of the residential drug treatment program at New Directions, the defendant may petition the court to have his bond reinstated.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
